

Both new and improved advances in seismic technologies promise safer buildings. Since most regions of the U.S. are vulnerable to earthquakes, architects must respond

Bordenaro M.

Architectural record

2002; (10):185-8, 190, 192 passim

ARTICLE IDENTIFIERS

DOI: unavailable

PMID: 12800432

PMCID: not available

JOURNAL IDENTIFIERS

LCCN: 12017303 //r983

pISSN: 0003-858X

eISSN: not available

OCLC ID: 01481864

CONS ID: not available

US National Library of Medicine ID: 9877762

This article was identified from a query of the SafetyLit database.