

'Every boy ought to learn to shoot and to obey orders': Guns, Boys, and the Law in English Canada from the late Nineteenth Century to the Great War

Brown RB.

Canadian historical review

2012; 93(2):196-226

ARTICLE IDENTIFIERS

DOI: 10.3138/chr.93.2.196

PMID: unavailable

PMCID: not available

JOURNAL IDENTIFIERS

LCCN: 23016213

pISSN: 0008-3755

eISSN: 1710-1093

OCLC ID: 01553108

CONS ID: cn 77318779

US National Library of Medicine ID: 100966999

This article was identified from a query of the SafetyLit database.