

Computation of the mean blood alcohol concentration from ten instead of five single tests is not discriminating against the defendant. The gas chromatographic technique is more accurate than the ADH method.

Superior court of Hamm

No Author(s) Listed.

Blutalkohol

1975; 12(4):279-280

ARTICLE IDENTIFIERS

DOI: unavailable

PMID: unavailable

PMCID: not available

JOURNAL IDENTIFIERS

LCCN: not available

pISSN: 0006-5250

eISSN: not available

OCLC ID: 02811759

CONS ID: not available

US National Library of Medicine ID: 0372531

This article was identified from a query of the SafetyLit database.